PornHub blocks access in North Carolina citing new state laws

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (QUEEN CITY NEWS) — PornHub has blocked access to its website from North Carolina in response to new state laws — which it says are unenforceable — that require adult websites to verify the age of its visitors.

House Bill 8, a new law that went into effect on Jan. 1, requires all adult film websites to obtain age verification from users to prevent those under the age of 18 from accessing the sites.

A message on PornHub's homepage explains that the law would essentially require users to upload their ID cards each time they want to access the site. They argue this is an ineffective way to police the site and could create privacy issues. Therefore, they've shut down access to the site altogether for all North Carolinians.

Dear user,

As you may know, your elected officials in Virginia are requiring us to verify your age before allowing you access to our website. While safety and compliance are at the forefront of our mission, giving your ID card every time you want to visit an adult platform is not the most effective solution for protecting our users, and in fact, will put children and your privacy at risk.

In addition, mandating age verification without proper enforcement gives platforms the opportunity to choose whether or not to comply. As we've seen in other states, this just drives traffic to sites with far fewer safety measures in place. Very few sites are able to compare to the robust Trust and Safety measures we currently have in place. To protect children and user privacy, any legislation must be enforced

Can DMCA.com Help Remove Revenge Porn?

Knowledge Base » What can I do if I am a victim of revenge porn?

We can help. A common outcome of revenge porn is pictures or videos sent in confidence are uploaded online for everyone to see.

While revenge porn can affect anyone, the majority of revenge porn cases we receive the victims are women. DMCA.com has qualified, experienced experts that handle these kinds of situations every day. If you feel more comfortable that your case be handled by a woman, or by a man, let us know and we will be happy to accommodate your preference.

Most revenge porn cases involve private, personal photos, videos or emails posted online without permission. DMCA.com has been very successful at getting this kind of infringement removed through (DMCA) Takedown, cease and desist notices, or the accepted takedown practice in the jurisdiction of the website owner or web hosting company.

If you have been a victim of revenge porn and your personal photos or videos are published online without your permission, DMCA.com can get them removed. To get started right away simply go to: Submit Takedown Request and complete the form.

Also see DMCA.com's How to stop from being a victim of revenge porn.
